Find Me Lord

Michele Addino-Colchin

Verse 1:

I cannot find you, Lord
The heavy fog consumes me
I search the dark and stormy waters for you
I sail the sea of faith, I seek but do not find
Anything but dark lonely shores.

Refrain:

Find me, Lord, help me to see your face
Let it shine like a beacon in my heart
Call out my name and I will sail back to you
In the night, shine your light, on me.

Verse 2:

I cannot hear you, Lord
The angry crowd surrounds me
Different voices all around me, which one is yours?
I sail the sea of faith, I seek but do not find
Anything but dark lonely shores.

Refrain:

Find me, Lord, help me to see your face
Let it shine like a beacon in my heart
Call out my name and I will sail back to you
In the night, shine your light, on me.
In the night, shine your light. . . .

Vision

Michele Addino-Colchin

Verse 1:

When the darkness surrounds me, enfolds me invites me in
Shadows circle before my sight And taunt me to give in.
But the darkness is an illusion, I've created in my mind
Although I believe in the light of God, I act as though I'm blind.

Verse 2:

The phantom veil before me, clouds and covers my eyes
Small remnants of your light I see, my soul begins to rise
O Send your love O Jesus cast light unto my face
Shine Your holiness deep within, into this darkened place.

Refrain:

O Lord Be thou my vision, give me your eyes that I may see
O Lord be thou my vision, beyond all else I desire to see.

Verse 3:

My Spirit longs to awaken from this haunting dream
Holy Spirit revive me, give me life that I may breathe
The darkness is an illusion, but it seems so real to me
Take my hand O Lord, and open my eyes to see reality.
(Refrain)

Verse 4:

When the darkness surrounds me, enfolds me invites me in
Shadows circle before my sight, and taunt me to give in.
But the darkness is an illusion, though it seems so real to me
Take my hand O Lord, and open my eyes to see reality.

Lyrics for “Spiritual Meditations” Album

Michele Addino-Colchin

At the Cross

Michele Addino-Colchin

I stand beneath the cross, the cross of wood that drips of his blood
How could I be so full of grace, when I see my son, dying in disgrace?

*Take me, Lord, take me, Lord, take me in his place
Take me, Lord, take me, Lord, take me in his place.*

I look up and see my son, my son who saves and loves everyone
My heart his pierced, his pierced by a sword,
In bitter anguish, I pray, “Help him, Lord”!

*Take me, Lord, take me, Lord, take me in his place
Take me, Lord, take me, Lord, take me in his place.*

I remember the promise I made long ago, to be the mother of Jesus
your Son
I said “yes” then, I’ll say it once again, I am your handmaid, Great I AM!

*Take him, Lord, take him, Lord, take him from this place
Take him, Lord, take him, Lord, take him from this place!*

Take him, Lord, take him, Lord, take him from this place, . . . Please
Take him in your grace.
